UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS, Iowa (AP) - Esther Winders is a sedate, elderly homemaker until trouble brews. Then she straps gun to hip, leaps on her motorcycle and roars off to meet the trouble head on. Esther, who's approaching 70, has been the town marshal of this quiet little suburb of Iowa City since 1934, and folks say few people give her trouble when she dons her leather jacket and pants and motorcycle

Off the motorcycle, Esther "just looks like a litte old lady," said Mrs. Russell Ross, wife of a former University Heights mayor, "but when she gets on that thing, look out." A stop sign was placed at the town's main intersection a few years ago, and the marshal sat

Esther's husband, Roy, a re-tired businessman, said he has always liked her police work but he doesn't think much of the motorcycle, "Riding on that back seat, that's no fun at all,"

For night calls and winter work Mrs. Winders abandons her sleek silver cycle for a bright red 1960 Studebaker with a red light on top. "No siren," she pointed out. "They don't want any noise here."

The marshal also has dress to fit the season-black leather jacket and pants for winter, white leather for summer. Mrs. Winders said University cobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jacobson, 9 Kline Blvd. and Charles Barry Zuravin, Lakewood, N.J. were re-cently married at Emerald Gardens, Baltimore. Rabbi Morris Kosman, Beth Sholom Congregation assisted by Cantor Aaron Lieber, Lakewood, N.J. officiated at the candlelight ceremony. A reception and dinner immediately followed the ceremony. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of candlelight blush satin designed with an illusion neckline, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt which ended in a cathedral length train. Her veil, a family heirloom, was a mantilla of Brussells lace, also cathedral length. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of roses and orchids.

CONNIE MOSS, Owner

Mrs. Hugh Sickel, Bethesda, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Miss Hedy Hirsch, cousin of the bride was maid of honor. Bridal attendants were MissSusan Zuravin. Mrs. Michael Rinis, Miss Jan Bowers and Mrs. Peter Zipfel. All attendants wore floor length dresses of pink scotch linen designed with boat neckline and empire waistline. Their headpieces were Dior bows of the same material as the dress, trimmed with matching French illusion veils. They carried old fashioned bouquets of dark red Forever roses, pink Sensation roses and stephanotis. Serving as best man for Mr. Zuravin was David Feder, New York City. Ushers were H.-Albert Bachrach Jr., Levittown, Pa., Barton Ribakow, Washington, D.C., Michael Rin-is, Greenbelt, Dr. Harold Riba-kow, Baltimore, and Karl Jacobson, Frederick.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jacobson wore a floor length gown of lace and organdy, trimmed with crystal beads. The bridegroom's moth-
